At least that's the case with a lady goat named Delilah, who was billed as the featured attraction in a parade to cele brate the annual Bock Beer Festival in Yorkville, New York's famous old German section.

Delilah, a bearded lady, was expected to lead a small band and other assorted revellers in a brief parade up the main street to commemorate the occasion.

So they dressed Delilah up in fancy livery, draped a gar-land of flowers around her neck, stuck a silly hat over her horns and sent her out into the street with instructions to step out smartly.

Well, Delliah just wasn't having any. Coaxing didn't work and so the paraders had no alternative but to drag her by the leash up the street, an indignity she endured with

BEFORE PLUNGING INTO THE hoopla of an election campaign nada should understand the real issue before it. The issue is quite simple: Does the Diefenbaker gov-The issue is quite ernment deserve a vote of confi-dence or should it be dismissed in favor of another government?

No doubt the present govern-ment will try to divert attention from its record and from the true state of the nation by three devices. It will say that the parliamentary opposition obstructed the public opposition business; that the United States has intervened in Canadian affairs and only the government is prepared to resist foreign pressure; and that the state of the nation is good.

None of these statements is true. The business of the nation was delayed because the government waited three months after the election to call Parliament together and after four more months still had not introduced its long-heralded legis-

Its famous statement, though a serious mistake in its wording deeply regretted in Washington, did not seek to force a certain defence policy on Canada but only corrected Mr. On Canada but only corrected and Diefenbaker's misrepresentation of American policy. Canada needs a government which can end the present quarrel with the United States and the much longer quarrel with Britain.

The state of Canada, whatever the government may say, is not good. Though the gross national product grew rapidly last year after five years of stagnation, it did not grow fast enough to cure unemployment. It is not expected to grow at that rate in the present year and even if it did we should not be within sight of those million extra jobs needed within five years. How can the state of the nation be considered satisfactory when it is running a trade deficit of about a billion dollars annually, increasing its foreign debt every day and after five years of Conservative govern-

It is a disgrace that these beaches have been stigmatized for years by signs warning bathers to keep away during the summer months. This, apart from its influence on the difference is about as poor ence on the citizens, is about as poor publicity as the seafront could offer

At this point no specific plan has been drafted to cure the evil. Initia! action, on the mayor's suggestion, will be that of building up a fund to cover costs. The history of the Conservative government of which he is a mem-ber has been to discourage imports. British imports have been handi-capped by restrictive regulations. A government statement from London that Canada bought 10 per says that Canada bought 10 per cent less from Britain during the latter half of 1962 than during the first six months. And now another ingrained notion is under attack. Although the value of work has long been the subject of copybook maxims and the patient worker was a model for all, there can be no doubt that the popular attitude to work in our society has been rather negative.

But it seems we were all wrong on this point. Medical and psychiatric ex-perts tell us now that the correct atti-tude toward work is to consider it as a lifelons, occupation, something to be sought and welcomed, and that a non-working state, regardless of your finan-cial standing, is something to be avoided

That's quite a switch, for it eats into the very core of our North American standards and ideals — the successful man who makes his pile and relaxes to enjoy it for the rest of his years.

The word now is that the man who gives up working has done himself harm. He doesn't have to continue the same sort of work at which he earned his living, of course. In fact some other form of work might be preferable. But perform it he must, or he will suffer physically and mentally, and perhaps most of all emotionally.

THE BBC has introduced a. New method of disseminating the spoken word at any rate we think it is new because we don't. Remember hearingit until a week or two ago it consists of. Putting the fullstops in the middle of sentences instead of at the end as we were. Taught at school as a corollary to this new sentences are run on without a break. The practice seems to have started as a. Means of enlivening the reports of otherwise tedious football matches of otherwise tedious football matches on a. Saturday afternoon now it has spread to the. News columns as it were and the effect is to make the subject matter. Confusing the interest of the listener is directed to the. Manner of delivery rather than the. Events recounted we tried to discover whether the ellipses or hiatuses followed a. Definite partern or whether the breaks the ellipses or hiatuses followed a. Definite pattern or whether the breaks were made. Arbitrarily a pattern did emerge it seems that most of the breaks were made. Arbitrarily a pattern did emerge it seems that most of the breaks come after the preposition some times they follow. Verbs but they always come when you. Least expect them and they constitute an outrage on what. We in the trade call the. Genius of the language.

The Show's the Thing

"L OOKIT," said the boy of 12 or 13 walking from the Arena with his friends after the Globetrotters' exhibition on Wednesday night, "I'm gonna score a basket," and he went through the motions of drop-kicking an imaginary ball toward an imaginary hoop. "Too bad it didn't go in when the fellah took in when the fellah took the kick," said one of his group. "That'd a been group.

"Yeah," added an. other, "but the only thing gabout the Globetrotters, you know what they're going to do. I knew the little guy was going to be on the big guy's shoulders for one of those shots.'

Sure you did, son. Sure you did. This is stylized comedy of a kind and there is a limit to the routines a troupe can per-form in the format of a basketball game. But it's not so much that the tricks are known. The Trotters' virtue lies in their ability to do them so well while they are playing very effectively. You and your friends got your money's worth at the show-and it was good to see so many of you youngsters there.

So you'd seen it all before on television Now you've seen it in the flesh and there's a difference. This time you were there. *

The Globetrotters don't bring you the surprise that comedy basketball brought to my generation at your age. We hadn't any TV. Basketball was about 30 pages out of Dr. James A. Naismith's peach baskets and smail fry like us thought a long shot could be performed only by swinging the ball low between our knees, two-handed, and then heaving it up in a high rainbow curve toward the hoop. The turns of the way a platitively remote prospect. jump-shot was a relatively remote prospect and nobody had thought of dunking the ball in from above the baskets.

That wasn't the way Norm Forbes, Jack Mackenzie, Art Webster, Art Boyd and the others played it. The Blue Ribbons, with the Chapmans, Patricks, Doug Peden, Johnny Craig, Joe Ross, Tommy Little, Claude Sluggetts and the rest, were some years in the future.

The House of David brought the first

The House of David brought the first basketball circus I can remember to town. The boys with the beards were phenomenal, largely, we believed, products of the Indiana corn belt and masters of ball handling. When they started to whiz passes around them, through their legs and out of their whiskers, we sat enchanted. They were good, too good for our crowd.

But not for long. By the time the Ribboth hot for long. By the time the Rib-bons had hit their stride, taking the Cana-dian championship and top rating in the nation, our boys were pretty competent ball hawks and could slide as fancy a pass as the next.

as the next.

I watched another House of David club, complete with beards perform at the old High School gym, It was a different story from the earlier visit. By half time the Ribbons—or were they Dominoes by that time?—held a comfortable lead.

In the second half the gallery dissolved in laughter as the Victoria boys came out with hill-billy hats, false beards and more razzle-dazzle nonsense than the barnstorming crowd. Our basketball and comedy had grown taller than the Indiana corn, so tall the beards recruited Red Martin a few years later to barnstorm with them.

It wasn't the best basketball the Ribbons or Dominoes ever played, but it was mighty good entertainment. For crowd appeal that may be more important.

I'm not chauvinist enough to suggest that our boys reached the peak attained by the Globetrotters as basketball players. The experts tell me the Trotters are as good as most National Basketball Associagood as most National Basketball Associa-tion pros and National Basketball Associa-tion pros draw their raw material from college amateurs who are polished up to NBA standard only by play in the top professional league.

Carry the logic a little further. In those years when Victoria was producing Canadian champions, or runners up, among the champions of these Victoria players. amateurs, two or three Victoria players made the Canadian Olympic team. The Canadian team did not measure up to the proficiency of the American Olympic squad, which, by definition, was amateur. Still we produced from our local boys some very good basketball teams in an era in which we were also developing na-tional champions in lots of sports—track and field, aquatics, and other athletics as well as the best English rugby teams in B.C. In recent years, we've still done reason-ably well in lacrosse at the Mann Cup level and, they tell me, we are on the make again in basketball.

All of which isn't news, or even com ment. But I thought I should get out of my rocking chair briefly to say it, and to confess that quite a lot of people like myself ought to be getting off our hip-pockets to give the youngsters the kind of support which encourages them to make teams, good enough, maybe, to play the Trotters

the latest version of the discontented lout without which no slice-of-life movie is complete, has his face bashed in by an un prete, has his face basiled in by all this friendly member of the opposing team. He spits out six teeth and much blood. Blood's still trickling down his chin at a Christmas party after the football game. His woman friend (Rachel Roberts, wife of Rex Harrison) is also bringing up blood before the movie is out.

She plays a singularly unappealing widow who has her dead husband's boots by the kitchen sink to keep his memory fresh. When the football star tackles her for a bit of energetic scrummaging she's so shocked that she has a brain hemhorrage.

It's that dreary, slummy, no-hope sort of film, unrelieved by any spark of humo-except for what is now a cliche of North Country drama—"Go and get stuffed"

(three times).

Avoid it, unless you want to have a nostalgic reminder of the sights and sounds of Rugby League.

Some become rich as miss outs. Others are famous losers. In the immediate time after Floyd Patterson knoeked out Archie Moore, there were some who claimed he would be the best heavyweight champion since Joe Louis. The pay days were immense and Patterson won back the title from Ingemar Johannson after losing it. No other heavyweight champion did that before him and many tried. But, despite his fortune, Patterson must be regarded as a loser.

Clint Hartung, the Saddest of All

I wonder about Cassius Clay as I remember Patterson scussing his own talent with a positive modesty that wasn't bragging. He was so sure he was great it seemed appropriate for him to grieve because he had never fulfilled the pldges of his beginnings. But in two minutes and six seconds in Chicago, Sonny Liston turned him stupid, clumsy, graceless and frantic with the loser's incurable disease.

There was the late Porky Oliver, the golfer, who was disqualified after tying for the National Open and never came again . . . Joe Black, who won a pennant for the Brooklyn Dodgers and couldn't get it back . . . Gordon Glisson, who was supposed to be Eddie Arcaro's successor . . . Clint Har-

"I would have dropped $50,000 into Mike's lap just to talk to the boy," McGrew said, "I'd swim a river to sign him. The boy's a whole ball club. But Clint was a bust in the majors. What happened

I was in the same outfit in the army with Porky Oliver for a while. Guys were constantly dropping by the barracks to tell Oliver they were sorry that he had lost the Open Championship because he had teed off too early.

"I got my whole life to win it," Oliver used to say. "I'm still a young, healthy guy."

He was still young when cancer took him. But he never got up there again.

In 1952, Joe Black won the pennant for the Brooklyn Dodgers. He won 15, lost only 4 and was instrumental in sav ing many games for other guys.
"I'm going to make a great pitcher out of him," said

Charlie Dressen, who then managed the Dodgers.

He was a great pitcher in '52, but never after that.

One of the detectives who pinched Sherman White tried

"All of us gamble," the cop said. "You gambled and

"No one gambled bigger than me," White replied.

He was right, too. Because he had accepted an insignifi-cant sum from a fixer. White would never sign the contract with the Knickerbockers. It would have been the most lucrative ever offered a basketball player up to then. He didn't even beat the price.

The first time I heard about Gordon Glisson, Eddie Arcaro told me about him.
"Glisson's a bug boy," Arcaro said. "Right now there isn't a better rider in the country."

But Glisson's brother was killed in a race in which he rode. He had a couple of bad falls, and that was the end of it.

In under clubbing, you choose a club for a shot to the green that leaves you short of your target. Over-clubbing is just the opposite—using a club too strong for the distance.

The usual cause of underclubbing is a fear of hitting the ball over the green. But many times, your chief danger lies in falling short of the green, especially if you have water or sand hazards in front of the green. In such a case, choose the longer club to make sure that you don't fall short.

If more danger lies beyond the green, however, such as an out-of-bounds area or traps, don't select a club that tends to give you the extra distance.

First step is to analyze the tuation and decide which club

NEW TRIUMPH "SPITFIRE 4" "The World's Newest Sports Car"

THE TRIUMPH SPITFIRE 4, a new British import, is the latest in the Triumph line of sports cars. First full-size sports car in the popular price range, the Spit-fire 4 features low, sleek body styling by Michelotti of Italy. Roll-up windows and foam-cushioned bucket seats add to driving comfort. An easily-erected vinyl top converts the Spitfire 4 to a snug all-weather car. The four-speed gearbox controls a twin-carburetor, four-cylinder engine. The engine develops 63 bhp and delivers a top speed of well over 90 miles an hour. A combination of four-wheel independent suspension and rack and pinion steering makes for precise handling under all conditions. Frent-wheel self adjusting callper-type disc brakes are standard equip-ment. The Spitfire 4 shown here carries a suggested list price of.

Philips conquers high voltage burnout

2-year picture tube guarantee!

The picture tube is the hardest working part of your television set. And it is the most expensive. Many picture tubes burn out prema-turely, weakened by high voltage surges caused when household current fluctuates.

Now Philips engineers have found a way to stop excess voltage reaching the picture tube. They have developed a tiny electronic "brain" called Monitron which controls the voltage reaching the picture tube and keeps it at a safe level.

Philips new Monitron circuit offers such exceptional prote that the picture tube is now guaranteed for 2 full years.

The idea for Monitron came from the giant Thyrite Arrestors that protect expensive powerline transformers against lightning. Working with new materials, Philips engineers developed a tiny device about the size of a headache capsule. Monitron senses voltage changes and acts immediately to protect the picture tube.

Monitron TV means greater viewing pleasure, longer picture tube life, a steadier picture and greater dependability. By keeping voltage constant. Monitron eliminates "Picture Squeeze"—the shrinking picture that results when voltage drops, his question:

How Does a Spider Spin From Tree to Tree?

Everybody loves to watch a tightripe walker perform. We hold our breath and wonder how anyone can, how anyone dares walk around so high in the air. But a little spider is a far cleverer aerial acrobat. For her size, she can trip farther and faster than any human tightrope artist in the world.

The best, the very best aerial acrobatics occur in the morning, and, in order to see the show, you must be up at dawn and outside when the grass and the shrubbery are wet with dew. The star performer is no bigger than the nail on your little finger, so you had better take along a magnifying glass. She is a spider, and, to her, the stunning show is just a normal a few flies.

Dear Shirley from the sunny south:

In reply to your letter about English muffins I have met, were NOT wrong to have what is an English muffin? The answer is always the same helped your mother and I "never heard of them."

For other readers who may say, "Why, she means a chimpet." I will tell you that the lefter went on to say that in California she could buy both crumpets and English muffiles, so they are not the same.

I also inquired at bakeries about English muffins and again the answer was—"never heard of them."

So not being able to find your multins I will give you the recipe you requested.

Recipe: Scald ½ cup milk, add ¾ cup water, I tsp. salt, I tsp. sugar and let cool to lukewarm. Either soften one yeast cake or sprinkle one package of yeast powder in ¼ cup lukewarm water. When the yeast is soft or dissolved add this with 2 cups of all-purpose flour to the above mixture. Beat well and then set aside and let rise until double in bulk. Add 3 tolsp. slightly softened shortening and another 2 cups of 1 p.m., and 2 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., flour. Beat and knead thoroughly to insure fine texture. Let vise until double in bulk. rise until double in bulk.

Place on board sprinkled with corn meal. Flatten with rolling pin to ½ inch in thickness. Cut with three-inch cutter. Bake 15 minutes on hot buttered griddle, turning several times the batter during cooking. Makes one dozen. If you make the batter ahead of time chill cut-out muffins until ready to cook.

And a happy muffin time to all! Penny.

Should you go up with the eight?

The first step in your reasoning should be to count a few points. Dummy has eight. You have 11. Probably South has 17 since he rebid to three per rebid to three no-trums. That leaves ex-actly four points for your partner. Some of those points will be in diamonds since probably has led from something. If he has the queen of diamonds would have no prob-lem, but South plays the six.

I've risen out of my chair, involuntarily, for only one man. He is Alfred Hitchcock. The occasion was the first startling scene in the film Psycho. From that moment my respect for the portly one's talents has grown and matured. That's one reason Thursday night is Hitchcock night in our household.

One of the most obnoxious characters ever developed and presented regularly is Crazy on the Jackie Gleason Show. That's why I question the salute to Frank Fontaine as the outstanding television personality of 1962 by the Advertising Club of Baltimore, Ohio. Nothing against the comedian Fontaine, just the character he plays.

superb samples of suspense and intrigue. When the show was only half for next season. Breaking Point, a new psychiatry for next season. Breaking Point, a new psychiatry series starring Paul Richards, will replace Ben Casey on Monday nights. The good doctor Casey will treat patients with new office hours on Wednesday nights. Minor bickerings are dime a dozen in the House, but on Thursday the big one erupted, an NDP-inspired bran-nigan that fetched Brotherhood Week to a remarkably unfraternal sympathy white Randolph Harding of Kaslo Slocan ripped into alleged Socred campaign fund skulduggery was Deputy Speaker Alex Matthew A mild man, he had the bad luck to be occupying Mr. Shantz' grotto the press gallery the brimstone which NDP Arthur Turner set sim-mering earlier in the week bolled over, Slashing out from the advance position set up by Mr.

Turner, Mr. Harding linked
I.emier Bennett and Attorney-General Bonner with finance minister Einar Gunderson as the triumvirate in charge of an asserted Socred collection agency referred to as the "Free Enterprise Educa-tional Trust Fund."

Shakedown Tactics

"Will you deny it?" he snapped at Mr. Bonner, seated alongside the premier's temporarily empty chair across the red carpet. "What's your point?" asked Mr. Bonner, unperturbed.

The point, according to terrier-tough Mr. Harding, is that the so-called education fund raised $200,000 in 18 months from its 1953 incep-tion. The inference—I don't recall that the NDP member used the word direct, al though others have—is that shakedown tactics induced this golden shower.

As to the businessmen who donated to the fund, Mr. Harding said, Mr. Gunder-son could supply their

"Do you deny," Mr. Hard-ing repeated, "that you were a trustee of the fund?"

Mr. Bonner would answer This his opponent refused to do, claiming that if he yielded the floor, he wouldn't be allowed to rise

Inquiry Challenge

"You asked for an inquiry into our allegations of shakedowns," he called to the government ranks. "Well, we challenge you to hold an inquiry!"

Bring Things To Head

By GORDON BELL Times Business Editor

An independent Imperial Oil dealer in Victoria cut the price of gasoline to 38.9 cents a gallon this morning in a move which seemed likely to precipitate further general price cutting in the area. At 10:45 a.m., J. C. Hawkes of Hawkes Bros. Esso Service at Fairfield and Moss Streets told the Times he had dropped his price from 44.9 to 38.9 the same as the general level in Vancouver—in order to "bring things to a head."

Mr. Hawkes emphasized his station was not taking gas from Imperial Oil on consignment—he is still paying the regular tankwagon price of .36.3 cents a gallon and makes a gross profit of only 2.6 cents a gallon.

Rally round, constituents.

A matter of urgent importance has been brought to attention by an enthusiastic Victoria booster named Mrs. don't have the initials) Brown.

And I am ashamed this matter of urgent importance had to be brought to my attention.

A I should have thought of it myself.

The matter is the continued absence of Cadborosaurus, the fun-loving sea serpent, from his native waters. Caddy has not been seen in Cadboro Bay, his birthplace, or in Cordova Bay or Gonzales Bay or the Inner Harbor or even, indeed, in Juan de Fuca Strait, for lo, these many moons.

And, as Mrs. Brown points out, there are many urgent marine matters requiring his attention.

There is the question of a breakwater for Gonzales Bay, surely a project which needs the help of a consulting

There is Charles White's idea for a reverse

rium, a people arium, as it were, bringing people to the fish instead of fish to the people.

There is the suggested renovation of the Inner Harbor, involving sea-skirting promenades and the dredging of

• And there is (leave us not be crassly commercial) the up-coming tourist season, which needs something to re-place last year's World's Fair of Seattle to make the visitors storm our beaches, wallets at the ready.

The last time I talked to Caddy, ne stamped off in a rage (you haven't lived until you've seen a sea serpent stamping off in a rage) because he had been accused of being a ribbon

Apologies for this base canard were duly tendered, but they have not brought Caddy back into these waters.

Caddy, I fear, is sulking because HE believes people don't believe in HIM.

Thus, at Mrs. Brown's instigation, I am taking the only course possible to bring Caddy back.

Borrowing the gimmick Peter Pan used when his pal Tinker Bell came down with acute dispepsia, I am asking all level constituents to rally "round and announce: loyal constituents to rally 'round and announce;

I BELIEVE IN CADDY.

In an undisguised attempt to make this, for once, a win-ning crusade, I am offering a prize for the constituent who finishes this sentence, in quite a few words or less:

I believe in Caddy because:

The prize will not be anything so boring as cash or a

The prize will not be anything so oring as the trip to Lower Bechuanaland.

The prize is one of my dearest possessions, with which I will part only because of the worthiness of the cause: a copy of Sea Siang of the Twentieth Century, compiled by Wilfred Granville with an introduction by Eric Partridge.

Suitably inscribed by me, and, if the campaign to bring back is successful, by dear old Cadborosaurus himself. Anyone can enter, anyone can win. Enter as many times you wish, by letter, postcard, or use the convenient coupon

More Cuts Predicted

By GORDON BELL Times Business Editor

An independent Imperial Oil dealer in Victoria cut the price of gasoline to 38.9 cents a gallon this morning in a move which seemed likely to precipitate further general price cutting in the area.

At 10:45 a.m., L.C. Hawkes of Hawkes Bros. Esso Service at Fairfield and Moss Streets told the Times he had dropped his price from 44.9 to 38.9— the same as the general level in Vancouver—in order to bring things to a head."

Mr. Hawkes emphasized his station was not taking gas from Imperial Oil on consignment — he is still paying the regular tankwagon price of 36.3 cents a gallon and makes a gross profit of only 2.6-cents a gallon.

GET ACTION

He predicted his move would "prompt some fast moves to get a settlement" of the price

ANOTHER TWO CENTS

When the majority of major oil company outlets move down to the 40.9-cent level, the down to the 40.9-cent level, the four "private brand" stations are expected to cut another two cents off their prices.

Since Imperial Oil has pledged itself to meet "all leadered" their ground in
